

Take the admin off your plate

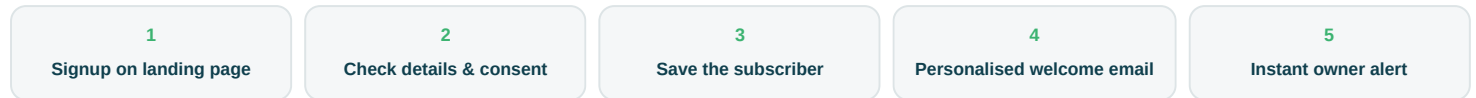

AI and automation that work while you don't. Built for you, running on your own private cloud, with fixed costs and no per-task fees.

What automation can do for you

- Instant welcome emails to new signups and customers
- A ping the second a lead lands, so none get missed
- AI chat answering website enquiries 24/7
- Lead capture wired straight from your site to your inbox
- Follow-ups and reminders that send themselves
- The repetitive data jobs running quietly in the background

A real example: landing page to inbox

For a recent product launch I built and tested a full signup flow, end to end. The moment someone signs up on the landing page, the system checks their details and consent, saves them, sends a personalised welcome email, and alerts the owner instantly. Every step tested and passing.

Email that lands, not spam

New Microsoft 365 accounts often get their outgoing email blocked. I've hit that exact wall and solved it: sending through a dedicated service with SPF, DKIM and DMARC set up correctly. In testing, the welcome email arrived in a real inbox, not the junk folder.

Done properly and legally

Marketing consent captured and recorded, and unsubscribe handling built in from the start. The bits that keep you on the right side of Irish and EU rules, sorted without you having to think about them.

Where it runs

On your own private cloud in Europe: n8n for the workflow logic, Dify for the AI, and a dedicated sender for delivery. Your data stays yours, it stays fast, and there are no per-task fees eating your margin as you grow.